CHARLEROI REGISTRANTS CAN ENLIST IN THE U. S. MARINES

Gen. Crowder Clarifies Situation With Reference to Sea Soldiers

REGIMENT IS RAPIDLY FILLING

According to a telegram from Gen. Crowder, Provost Marshal, registrants who are not in the July or August calls are eligible for enlistments in the Pittsburg regiment of the United States Marines. This decision on the part of the government authorities will permit alarge number of young men from Charleroi, whosigned up Thursday night last with the recruiting party which visited our town, to enlist in this branch of the fighting forces of the government.

Some doubt existed at that time as to the scope of the telegraphic order which was received by thelocal draft boards from the state draft headquarters. butthe telegram from Gen. Crowder seems to clarify the situation and leaves the way open for local registrants, if they wish to enlist in this branch of the service The full list is as follows:

SLIGHTLY INJURED IN THE NEWELL YARD

Herbert Lowe, aged about 17, of Brownsville, was injured Friday evening while at work in the yards at Newell. Lowe, who had taken the place of the young man, Lyons, who was killed a couple of weeks ago. as air brake inspector, was crossing the tracks when he was hit by a passenger train, the head log of the engine striking him on the hip. The boy was taken to the Brownsville General Hospital for treatment, and this morning his injuries were reported to be of a minor nature.

REPAIRS AT LOCKS

Extensive Improvements At Nos. 2 and 3 Are Now Under Way

FAVORED BY LOW WATER

An unfounded rumor gained headway during the past few days as to an alleged serious break in the dam at Lock No. 2. near Braddock, on the Monongahela river. This rumor was without foundation as to the serious condition of affairs. The extreme stage of low water in pool - makes conditions favorable for repairs of any nature about the various dams, and the United States engineers thought best to enter all available help at that point. Accordingly on Thursday the United States steamer Slackwater, Capt. James T. Nutt, the Kittaning. Capt. Silas Sayer. the crane boat in command of Capt. Jesse Virgin. and the dredge boat No. 2, Capt. Martin Peck. with several flats of large stone and oak timber, were assembled at Lock No. 2 and the work of general repairs will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible These repairs consist of replacing a portion of the lower crib. which was taken out by the ice last winter. The work will be under the direction of Capt. George S Nutt, superintendent of construction.

Upon completion of these repairs the entire fleet will be assembled at Lock No. 3. where extensive repairs will be made to the outer lockchamber. A new and much higher head wall will be built across the upper end of the lock and a new set of steel gates installed. These gates will be a much shorter type and will be fitted with new and improved fixtures. They will be operated with compresed air. which is now the standard motive power at all the locks from No. 1 at Pittsburgh to No. 6 at Rices Landing.

Rev. Keller Wants Your Boy's Address

Editor, TheMail, Charleroi, Pa.

Dear Sir:—I expect to spend the month of August on a speaking tour of the army camps in Texas and Oklahoma under the direction of the Religious Work Director of the Southern Department of the Army Y. M. C. A. And it occurs to me that there are doubtless in these camps some Charleroi boys whom I should be glad to look up for their relatives and friends and bring them such greetings and good cheer as one is able to do who "hails from" the same place.

As I speak at the "Y" buildings, where the bulletin board announces that I am from Charleroi, Pa., invariably at the close of the meeting every man present who lives anywhere in Pennsylvania and sometimes those from New York and Ohio, will come forward to speak to me and inquire concerning my possible acquaintance with t heir families or some friend. And in the majority of cases we are able to discover a mutual friend somewhere.

If those of your readers who have friends in the camps of Texas and Oklahoma will give me names and military addresses, I shall be glad to call on them and perform this service which I have learned is much appreciated.

Address as below:

Very truly yours,

C. A. Keller,

Y. M. C. A. Headquarters, Kelly Field, San Antonio, Texas

MUST MAINTAIN LAKE SHIPMENTS

Coal shipments to lakepoints from the Pittsburg district at the rate of 1 600 cars per day, must be maintained atall costs, according to a letter sent out on Thursday by R. W. Gardiner, district representative of the United States Fuel administration in Pittsburg to operators in his district.

The lake shipments. according to Mr. Gardner's latest instructions are to take precedence over everything except by-product plants. illuminating gas plants and railroad fuel. The order states that operators are to refuse to ship coal to any one not in any of the three classes named, except for immediate use.

No coal isto be shipped for stocking purposes either to retailers or essential manufacturers. All shipments are to be suspended to firms not on the essential list. Any violations of these rules will be reported immediately to Washington.

CHILD WELFARE CIRCLE DONATES TO RED CROSS

Miss Minnie Richardson, treasurer of the Charleroi Chapter of the American Red Cross this morning received a checque for $25 from the Child WelfareCircle of Charleroi a donation much appreciated by the fiscal officers of the Red Cross.

It is hard for most of us to become vegetarians and meat eaters will be pleased to know that, according to an official survey by the National Livestock exchange, all the indications as to the country's meat supply are encouraging, there being increased production, a remarkable reduction in loses from disease. improved railroad service, and satisfactory conditions on the great ranges, all of which cooperate to afford a guarantee against higher prices and even sugest the possibility of lower figures.

SPENDING MORE FOR AMUSEMENTS

The American people are spending slightly more for amusements but less for travel as thewar progresses. This fact is revealed in a comparison of the May receipts of taxes collected by the Internal Revenu Bureau with the receipts for previous months. War taxes from all sources collected in May amounted to $123,869.104.

Taxes collected during May by the ten per cent charge on admissions to theatres. concerts. cabarets and like places amounted to $4.524,996. indicating that $45,000,000 was spent on such amusments during the month. In February taxes from the same source totalled $3,708,000.

The eight per cent tax on passenger fares during May yielded $3, 723.920 which shows that approximately $46,549 000 was spent in traveling during themonth. During February the same tax raised $4,465,200 representing expenditures for traveling of $55.850,000.

CALLED TO FUNERAL AT CLARKSVILLE

Rev. John R. Burson was called to Clarksville, Pa., this morning to attend the funeral of Mrs. John Teagarden, mother of Rev. H. G. Teagarden of Punxsutawney. Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Rev. Teagarden is a brother-in-law of Rev. Burson.

HEALTH CONDITIONS ARE REPORTED GOOD

A regular monthly meeting of the board of health was held Friday evening at which time Health Officer Darby announced that there was not a single case of contagious disease reported in Charleroi during the past month. Routine business came before the board for action. which was all disposed of

FIRST CASUALTY LIST TELLS OF LOSSES OF CO. A, 110TH REG'T.

Four Men From Company and One from Machine Gun Battalion

KILLED ON THE 15TH OF JULY

Casualty lists of the present great battle or series of battles now raging in the Rheims-Soissons salient in France are being received form the war department These lists are carrying sorrow and distress into the homes of many people in this immediate vicinity. telling of the death or the wounding of some loved member of the household.

Friday evening four telegrams came from the war department at Washington to Monongahela people telling of the death of members of Co. A. 110th Regiment, which has been in the present series of defensive and offensive operations since the 15th of July. The telegrams told of the death of Sergeant John Carrick, of Chess street, Monongahela, of John Boyd, son of Robert Boyd of Black Diamond, of Edward Kennedy, of Walnut street, and of Private Pigford of Gallatin.

The death of Sergeant Frank Downer of the Machine Gun Battalion of the110th Regiment. was also announced. His home was in Monongahela He was a Spanish-American veteran, and served through the Philippine insurrection with Co. A, of the Tenth Regiment, in 1899. He also served on the Mexican border two years ago.

The telegrams would indicate that the 110th has been in the thick at the front since thevery beginning of the present series of battles, the deaths of the men above noted having occurred on the 15th of July. Since that time the great allied offensive has taken place and it is only natural to assume that a large number of additional casualties have occurred, news of which will now come in from day to day.

A telegram was also received in Charleroi Friday evening telling of the wounding of Walter Bromwich, but as he had already informed his parents of his injuries the message contained no real news to them, but served to verify the cablegram received a few days ago

Naturally this first casualty list has caused a great deal of apprehension in this section of thevalley, from where Co. A of the 110th was recruited and further messages from the war departments are being anxiously awaited.

HIGH SCHOOL TEACHER MARRIED THE 19th

Charleroi friends are in receipt of cards from Mr and Mrs. Perry Newton Thompson. announcing the marriage of their daughter Ada Belle to Theodore Case Hill. July 19, 1918, at thehome of the bride, Cochrantos, Pa. Mr. Hill expects to leave for France next month, while Mrs. Hill. who is a member of the Charleroi high school faculty will resume her duties as teacher of English at the opening of the next school term.

DRAFTEES OFF TO CAMP

79 Men Leave Donora Friday Evening for Camp Lee Virginia

GUY WOODWARD MADE CAPTAIN

Seventy-nine selectives from the Fifth registration district left Donora at 9.25 o'clock Friday evening on their way to Camp Lee. Va The men were assembled Friday afternoon at 2, o'clock in the borough building. atwhich time they were addressed by John O. Watson, president of the local board, S. D. Hill of Charleroi. and Dr. Stewart of Monongahela.

The men were then excused until 8 o'clock in the evening when they again assembled at which time they were addressed by Jacob Wise of the Charleroi Veteran Guard and Gilbert E Koedel. secretary of the local board. After this brief ceremony the men fell into ranks and led by the Steel Works Band, marched to the station in charge of Guy Woodward of Charleroi. as Captain, with Dr. Stanley Markell. of Monongahela, and James Oates. of Lock Four, as assistants.

Five special cars were attached to the train for the benefit of the draftees, which were added to a special train which left Pittsburgh laterbound for Camp Lee, where the contingent arrived this morning.

These 79 men about exhaust the Class 1-A men of the Fifth district only about 10 remaining. However. the board expects to add others from the re-classification. which they will begin next week.

TWO WOMEN FOR THE SENATE

Both Miss Rankin of Montana and Miss Martin of Nevada want to be Senators of the United States. The former has attracted much attention as the first woman to be sent to Congress, where she was listed as a Republican and where her distinguishing performance was her vote against the war. She is again running as a Republican, but, like her sister of Nevada, is rather vague on national questions. Miss Martin actually won't "say what she is politically," but is neverless calling on all men and women to support her with confident assurances that she is just "the sort of Senatorial material they want and need. She stands for the war, but talks only of local issues. Party managers on both sides in the two states are said to be desperate, neither wanting women candidates but not daring to oppose them because a handsome young woman on the stump, however vague her political principles appeals to the chivalry of the western man.

If the two aspirants are defeated it will be largely due to the women voters who are not stirred by chivalry and for the most part are not keen to put their own sex into office. But the difficulty is to get even a majority of the women to vote. In a recent primary registration only about a third of the women voters appeared and qualified. This neglectful tendency was reported before the war, but it is possible that absorption in war work causes with many women a loss of interest in their new voting privilege. And, indeed, the undertaking of the Woman's Liberty Loan Committee, which expects to enroll a million names and hopes to sell half of thecoming loan of six billions, does make mere voting and even office seeking seem pretty small business.

A QUESTION OF INTEREST

Occasionally one meets a man who declares that be will not invest his surplus funds in Liberty Bonds because hecan get a larger interest upon his investment elsewhere. Four and a quarter percent, he insists, is not a sufficient return.

With him it is purely and simply a question of interest.

But when you make the purchase of a Liberty Bond a matter of interest there ismore than one sort of interest to consider. There is the cold proposition of money interest first, though itshould be the last. There is self-interest to safeguard which should come several degrees higher on thelist. Then there is the common interest in one's country which should come first of all.

If you have no interest in this war you can have no interest in your country, for itis the very life and welfare of the country which is primarily at stake.

And if you have no interest in your country you should get out of it.

It is no longer the place for you.

For America has been your home. Ithas been father and mother to you, ithas afforded you every opportunity for self improvement and advancement. Ithas been all and more to you than any other spot on earth, regardless of whether you have always lived here or where you come from.

If ithadn't been so you would not have stayed.

And if it isn't so now you should get out.

It's as much to thecountry's interest asyour own.

THE REAL POINT INVOLVED

In the Harlem section of New York there is a restaurant for colored persons kept by Isaac Goldgraben. Into this place came a negro named Williams and one Cohn described in the legal papers as "a Hebrew white person." The negro and the Hebrew white person wished to dine together, but the head waiter refused to serve them on the ground that it was against the rules of thehouse to serve a mixed party." This made the Hebrew white person indignant and he brought suit against the proprietor. In the lower court the case was dismissed after trial by jury. The plaintiff then took the case to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court which has upheld the judgment of the lower court, holding that service was not refused on account of "race, creed or color"—which the Civil Rights law forbids—but was refused merely to "a mixed party" the white man being turned away as well as the black, service at separate tables being acceptable to them.

While this ruling istechnically correct, the court does not frankly state its approval of the strong American sentiment favoring separate social life for whites and blacks, which is the real point involved. This sentiment is atthebottom of therule of serving "a mixed party." Undoubtedly both the public peace of the moment and the future interests of the nation are best protected and conserved when the two races go their separate ways socially.

FOLLY OF DEPENDENCE

When itis recalled thatconsistently for years free-traders and college economists—theorists innocent of all practical experience—have opposed the industries which have made the country great, (iron and steel, ships, wool, sugar and tin plate,) without which we could take but an insignificant part in this struggle to defeat autocracy, it causes patriots to rejoice that the policy of buying in the seemingly cheapest market was rejected by the electorate for a halt century. Who would dare at this crucial time in theworld's history to denounce the wool grower and the wool manufacturer of the United States, as they were denounced in 1910, 1911 and 1912 in the press, on the hustings, and in the halls of Con[illegible] the peril of today, who does not see the folly of dependence upon foreign countries for products essential for our armies and our people? Who butconfirmed free-traders, hardened internationalists, like Trotzky and Lenine, will not now agree with Henry Clay's declaration in 1840 that "protection and national independence are identical and synomous and that the principle of the onecannot be surrenderedwithout the forfeiture of the other."—National Wood Industry.

A PROFIT TO TAX

Present cotton prices are created by the war. Over one-half of all the cotton raised is now used directly for war and a very large part for ammunition alone. Nothing else could explain why cotton, for example, should have been selling in the last six months for from three to five times its price of three years ago, when wheat is fixed at about two timess. The cotton growers will have this year an excess profitof a million a billion and a half of dollars. Practically none of this is reached by Federal taxation. The normal price of cotton is around $50 a bale. If the average of all prices or commodities has risen 100 per cent since 1914, then afair price for cotton isaround $100 per bale. And if we put an average tax of, say 50 per cent on all the excess of prices directly caused by war needs, then a fair tax on cotton would be, say $25 abale, and, say 80 per centof all the excess in selling price over $100 a bale; thatis to say, over 29 cents a pound.

If thecotton crop this year were twelve million bales this would yield around $480,000,000 more, or, say a round three-quarters of abillion in all—New York Tribune.

The latest news from Ireland is that country is now "the playground of Europe," that "from all allied countries thousands of pleasure seekers are flocking to the Irish seaside resorts," that "at the moment Ireland isthemost ideal country in which to live of all those involved in the war" and that "there is very little limitation in food." Not even compelled to send their sons to fight the Prussians, the Irish are free to stay at home and conspire against England in Germany's interests. The British "oppressors" we hear so much about are evidently more tolerant and soft-hearted than Americans would be.

A changed name has not removed the New York Fatherland's spots. Its editor has the audacity to ask our government to approve the general circulation of a prayer invoking a blessing on "the people of that great and fair land with whose rulers we are at war," notwithstanding the fact that our government long since realized, as Secretary Lansing put it, that the "stolid stubborn" German people, "fairly saturated with the belief in their invincible power, their racial superiority, and God's selection of them to be his partners in governing theworld," are altogether of a piece with their rulers.

Cosmopolitan Zanzibar.

In the streets of Zanzibar one meets Arabs from the North, sedate and turbaned, mounted on camels or donkeys; negroes from the mainland; natives of British India, liquid eyed and clothed in jewel-like colors; Europeans in helmets and ducks. Strange figures abound, from the medicine man of the bush, horribly old and withered, with eyes of preternatural cunning, to the artless Swaheli belle, with a full size saucer coquettishly introduced into the lobe of her brown ear. The markets of Zanzibar are famous for their fruits and their jewels. Some of the most magnificent sapphires and rubies in the world change hands in the mean looking shacks of the native merchants.

Two Famous Dentists.

The first dentist to fill the nerve cavity with gold was Edward Maynard, who was born in Madison, N. J., 107 years ago. Maynard was also the inventor of many of the instruments now used in dental surgery. In 1835 he graduated in dental surgery and settled in Washington where he practiced for fifty-five years. While Doctor Maynard was experimenting with improved fillings for teeth and inventing new appliances Dr. William T. G. Morton, a Boston dentist, robbed surgery of much of its horror by introducing the use of ether in operations. This was in 1844, a few years after the first dental college in America was founded in Baltimore.

Right and Wrong Idea of Power.

There are those who, the moment they enter a room, have the effect of dimming and giving the atmosphere a chill. Some of them act as if they took pride in this faculty. They regard it as an expression of power, which it really is, but a deplorable kind of power, harmful to those who use it and to those it is used on. How much better is the power for turning up the light and imparting warmth to the atmosphere. Every one of us can relate ourselves to it and, with practice, secure a more and more ready control. It is worth struggling for. It increases with us. It brings rewards that have no alloy.

Choosing Between Two Evils.

A young father, who is the proud possessor of a baby that is equipped with a powerful pair of lungs, discovered some time ago that the only way to appease this possible future president of the United States is to play the phonograph. The baby is as peaceful as a lamb while the music lasts, but is invariably on the job again when the music ceases. After this discovery things went easier in the home; but now the father is wondering whether it is really any more annoying to hear the baby cry than it is to listen to the phonograph so much.

Rabbit Skins Useful.

Millions of rabbits are killed annually in the British isles and in Australia for their skins, or, rather, for their fur, which is used in making felt hats. Great quantities of the English rabbit skins are sent to hat manufacturers in the United States, but first they go to the continent of Europe to have the long, useless hairs laboriously pulled out by cheap hand labor. Satisfactory machines to do this work are, it appears, lacking. After the skins reach America the close hair, or fur, is shaved off to be made into felt.

Hoping She Gets Away With It.

"He told me I am getting thin," said the fat lady. "That was nice of him, but surely you know whether you are or not." "Oh yes, I know by the scales that I'm not losing any flesh, but what I'm wondering is whether or not I'm carrying my weight so well that he really thinks I weigh less than I do?"

CLASSIC DRAMA IN JAPAN

Both Chorus and Music Accompany the Pantomime of the Actors on the Stage.

The actors—sons of the sons of generations of actors passing on as a legacy of great price to the right to act in these strange "No" plays of old Japan—entered and made their exits by way of the bridge. At their approach, Gertrude Emerson writes in Asia, unseen hands lifted and held back a curtain of persimmon and iris colored silk that hung at the door of the dressing room. Their costumes had wide skirtlike trousers and all the fires and conflagrations of an autumn wood or a mountain forest burned in the color of the brocades. Sometimes they had the streaming white hair of ghosts. They stamped with their white stockinged feet on the polished floor, which gave out a muffled echo. With their flowing sleeves they hid their faces, turning and swaying in rhythmic dances. With their fans they wrote the meaning of their dances in the air—the climbing of a mountain path to a forsaken shrine, a gift of water to a weary pilgrim, the picking of herbs, the flight of a bird across the sky, the falling of flowers—or of tears. The chorus sang in suppressed tones, holding their breath interminably, explaining, now the action, now the thoughts passing through the mind of the actor. The musicians beat on their drums and above all other sounds wailed the flute, thin and tremulous, piercingly sad, like a lost soul tormented of demons.

FROM CABBAGES TO KINGS

Writer Impressed by Accumulation of Subject Matter of Every Description in Print.

Perhaps the most valuable instrument for perpetuation is the printing press, writes Bruce Cummings in Science Progress. No sooner is an event over than it is reported in the daily press, and the newspaper preserved in the British museum for all time.

Within the sacred rotunda of the British museum reading room may be perused the novels of Charles Garvice, as well as the great Chinese encyclopedia of the Emperor Kiang-hi in 5,020 volumes.

In books our knowledge to date is rounded up and displayed: you may read a book on a lump of coal, a grass blade, a seaworm, on hair combs, carpets, ships, sticks, sealing wax, cabbages, kings, cosmetics, Kant. A very thick volume indeed was published last year upon the thorax of a field cricket. It would require a learned man to catalogue the literature that deals with such comparatively trivial subjects as the history of the Punch-and-Judy show, or the history of playing cards.

At the present rapid rate of accumulation the time must come when the British museum, thousands of years hence, will occupy an area as large as London, and the Encyclopedia Britannica be housed in a building as big as the Crystal palace; an accumulation of learning to make Aristotle and Scaliger turn pale.

Airplane Needs Strong Wood.

A modern airplane propeller is one of the strongest and most perfect products of man's handicraft.

Some airplane engines run at 1,700 revolutions a minute and can be geared up to 2,000. An engine of this power would use a nine-foot-six-inch propeller and the speed of the blade ends would be in the neighborhood of 600 miles an hour.

Revolving at this terrific rate, the slightest imperfection in the wood from which the propellers are made would tend to disrupt them and cause them to fly to pieces.

For this reason only the best and hardest wood from the heart of the tree is used for propeller blades. It takes 2,000 feet of timber in the rough to furnish 200 feet of wood good enough for propellers.

Black walnut is the very best kind of wood for propeller blades, for, besides being immensely tough, it does not splinter when hit by a projectile. Next in the order named, come mahogany, white oak, ash, maple, birch and cherry.

No Alimony From Soldiers.

The supreme court of New York state has no power to enforce an order for alimony against a soldier in the United States army, declared Justice Aspinall in the supreme court in Brooklyn in the case of Mrs. Florence Merriman against Rapley P. Merriman, a private. It is the first decision of its kind here. Justice Aspinall gave the opinion in acting upon the request of Mrs. Merriman's attorney, who demanded Merriman be forced to pay $40 on the first business day of each month. "It is obvious that the defendant could not comply with a direction that he pay $40 on the first business day of each month," said the justice, "when $40 is more than the rate of pay of his grade, and the time of payment of a soldier is necessarily very irregular."—New York Evening Sun.

No Respite.

"Hooray!" shouted the boy in the brown sweater. "Our teacher is going to France and be a Red Cross nurse."

"What good is that to us?" objected the boy in the scout suit. "They'll only get some other teacher to take her place."

Smart.

Nell—What would you give to have such hair as mine?

Bell—I don't know—what did you give?—Boston Evening Transcript.

ONLY ONE

The Record in Charleroi Is a Unique One.

If the reader has a "bad back" or any kidney ills and is looking for an effective kidney medicine, better depend on the remedy endorsed by people you know. Doan's Kidney Pills have given great satisfaction in such cases. Charleroi citizens testify to Louis Vellettay of 205 Prospect avenue. She says: "I had been troubled for years with dropsical swellings in hard to get around. I also had a dull, heavy pain in the small of my back and I couldn't do my housework. Rheumatic pains darted throughout my body and I felt tired all the time. I got no relief until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. I bought them at Piper Bros. Drug Store, and two boxes relieved me. I now take Doan's Kidney Pills when I am not feeling well and they never fail to help me."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Vellettay uses. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. 40

The Germans have not only raked all Belgium for booty with a fine-toothed comb, requisitioning even dogs, but, according to an Amsterdam dispatch, they have raised Belgium's forced "contribution" to 60,000,000 francs monthly, thus exacting from the poor little despoiled nation $12,000,000 each month or about $150 a person. Squeezing blood out of a withered turnip is nothing to this.

No More Running Sores

Hennings Drug Store and Piper Bros. Druggists, Sell an Ointment Called San Cura That is a Positive Relief.

It matters not how old, persistent or poisonous the sore is, San Cura Ointment the powerful antiseptic, will draw out the poison and promptly heal the sore.

So sure of this are the owners, the Thompson Medical Co., that they have authorized Hennings Drug store and Piper Bros., druggists to return the purchase price if San Cura Ointment doesn't do all this paper says it will do. No fairer offer was ever made.

B. D. Dutton, Titusville, Pa., says "My arm was covered with twenty-four running sores and swollen to twice its natural size. San Cura Ointment relieved the pain, drew out the poison and healed the arm in an incredibly short time. It is the greatest compound for healing I ever used."

The healing powers of San Cura Ointment are little short of marvelous. It gives relief, and is guaranteed to help salt rheum,eczema, bleeding, itching or protruding piles, ulcers, boils, carbuncles, chapped hands and chilblains. In cuts, burns, scalds and bruises. it allays pain and is healing. 30c, 60c and $1.20 a jar. By mail on receipt of price, if your druggist is out of it or does not keep it.

SAN CURA SOAP

For tender, itching or irritable skin, wash with San-Cura Soap, the antiseptic soap that soothes and heals and kills germs of disease. Great for pimples, blackheads, and makes the complexion clear and attractive. 25c at Hennings Drug Store and Piper Bros. druggists.

NEED FURNITURE IN GERMANY

Problem of Its Supply Has Added One More to the Troubles of the Government.

The German government has so far been unable to find any substitute for furniture, and has not yet had the temerity to ask its subjects to follow the example of their Turkish allies and sit on the floor. The result is a scarcity that has caused second-hand dealers to reap enormous profits.

A second-hand kitchen chair that formerly cost about 50 cents now sells for $5. An old bedstead that used to sell for $5 now brings $30. Second-hand dealers have scoured the country and old tables and chairs have been brought from cellars and garrets, but the demand still outruns the supply and prices already 1,000 per cent above normal, threaten to go higher.

The problem is likely to become more acute as soon as the war ends. Thousands of couples that married when the men were called into the army will wish to establish homes of their own. The government has provided many houses in advance, but these will be of little use without furniture.

Some urge that the government make the same rule regarding second-hand furniture as is now in force in the old clothes trade; put the private dealers out of business, fix lower prices and make it a crime for anyone to sell the second-hand articles except to the state.

A number of capitalists and furniture manufacturers have formed an association to make new furniture and sell it at four per cent above cost on the installment plan, requiring one-third of the purchase price as first payment. The cost of new furniture, even under this arrangement, is almost prohibitive, because of the scarcity of materials and the high wages of labor.

TAUGHT INSECTS TO THINK

Remarkable Act of Scientist That Hardly Seems Worth the Time It Must Have Taken.

John W. Coghlin has demonstrated what patience and perseverance will accomplish, and has also exploded the old-time theory that it was impossible to teach insects to understand the human voice and action. Some time since he had the good fortune to discover a hill of Madagascar neuroptera, or marching ants, says the Pittsburgh Press. They were about the size of the common June bug and of a dirty brown color, and he says that they are numerous in India and South Africa—that he can account for finding a hill of them in Maine by being brought there on some vessel. Mr. Coghlin invited some of his friends to his camp at Patten's Pond, where he amused them by putting the neuroptereans (as he called them) through a course of sprouts. The way he caused the little army to go through their evolutions was a marvel to all present. Marching by twos and by fours, over inclines and bridges made of toothpicks, with the regularity of trained troops, he finally caused them to break ranks by lighting a match before the leaders. He says that artificial light will confuse them; therefore they can be made to perform only in daylight.

National Prayer Days.

The first time the people of the United States were called upon to observe a day of national prayer was May 9, 1798, by proclamation of President John Adams. A controversy had arisen between this country and France and all Americans were called upon to pray for a continuation of peace. In 1815, when the United States was about to make war on Algiers, President Madison proclaimed a day of prayer. During the Civil war three presidential proclamations were issued appointing days of prayer for peace. In 1865 the authorities called upon the people to pray for Lincoln, and in 1881 President Arthur proclaimed a day of prayer to mark the burial of President Garfield. In the autumn of 1914 President Wilson issued his proclamation for prayers on "Peace Sundays."

Shoveling Out Gas.

Weighing considerably more than the atmosphere, the poisonous gases employed in modern warfare always seek lower levels. Thus the gas clouds penetrate trenches and deep dugouts, and in most cases it is a matter of many hours before they become sufficiently diluted with the atmosphere to permit of safe breathing. So the matter resolves itself into a problem of driving the poisonous fumes out of the trenches and underground shelters, or at least thinning them out until the air is again made safe.

For this reason American soldiers now in France literally "shovel" poisonous fumes out of their trenches. Attached to a shovel is a sort of canvas scoop or "flapper" which permits the men to heave the heavy gases over the parapets and beat the fumes and dissipate them in the surrounding air.—Scientific American.

Not Dangerous.

"While you were out west did you meet with any typical bad men?"

"I should say so! I spent a week in a camp full of the toughest customers you ever saw—real cowboys who spent most of their time firing pistols and careering on their broncbos at breakneck speed."

"Didn't you tremble for your life?"

"I was a trifle uneasy at first, but when I saw how a motion picture director bullied those fellows I plucked up considerable courage."

Oozing Fountain Pens.

An application of heavy oil to the joints of a fountain pen will effectively overcome the oozing out of ink at these places, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The types of fountain pens, having joints which disappear by turning a section of the barrel, sometimes leak because of wear. To remedy this, soak the pen in warm water and permit to dry, particularly inside. Then apply oil on the spindle that is revolved. Heavy cylinder oil is the best for the purpose. The lubricant should be worked through the bearing from end to end. The pen is then refilled and excess oil wiped off.

Fighting Doors.

All the doors should swing high enough from the floor to clear any rugs placed near them. And they should be placed so that they will not jam against one another. I know of two doors in a house that persist in locking knobs just as two angry bulls lock horns in mortal combat—or is it deer that do this? And when these doors are in that position, you can't get out, but have to back out, go around another way and separate them. We don't intend having any doors like that in this house.—Harry L. Shumway, in House Beautiful.

Garbage Utilization.

Hogs can be made to utilize much eatable material which would otherwise be wasted, according to a statement issued by the Connecticut Agricultural college. The report calls attention to the saving accomplished in Minneapolis, where between $50,000 and $60,000 is saved annually by using swine to consume the garbage of the city instead of burning it. Whereas Minneapolis formerly operated its garbage disposal at a loss, the city now receives $1.26 per ton for its garbage as hog feed.

Shortest Railroad.

You have heard of shortest railroads before. Always they're the most abbreviated ever. But off-hand one would grant the prize to Missoula, Mont. It has a railroad only 100 feet long. It connects the Northern Pacific with the C. M. & St. P., and is used as a transfer. It has no equipment, no employes, and no stations, yet the company that owns it gets 50 cents for every car that passes over its rails. Sixteen thousand have done so thus far. Think of it.—Popular Science Monthly.

Encouraging Fact.

I know of no more encouraging fact than the unquestionable ability of man to elevate his life by a conscious endeavor. It is something to be able to paint a particular picture or to carve a statue, and so to make a few objects beautiful, but it is far more glorious to carve and paint the very atmosphere and medium through which we look, which morally we can do.—Thoreau.

Rich in Misfortunes.

At the end of life a man finds himself rich, not so much by his fortune as by his misfortunes. The Persians had a vase of glass, which when empty was colorless, but when filled with wine flashed forth many rare pictures. So a bosom empty of a heart of pain makes a lusterless life, but a bosom in which a heart bleeds reveals hidden virtues.—Tilton.

To See Is to Believe.

"If I come in your yard will your dog bite me?" asked Weary Willie. "I'm not certain, mister," replied the woman of the house, "but the man who sold him to us says that he'll chase a tramp 10 miles without stopping. But I'm not going to believe it till I see it done."—People's Home Journal.

Thought Rules the World.

In the end thought rules the world. There are times when impulses and passions are more powerful, but they soon expend themselves; while mind, acting constantly, is ever ready to drive them back and work when their energy is exhausted.—McCosh.

The Goat's Foot.

Did you ever notice the shape and the build of a goat's foot? Its fitness for rock climbing is only one sign of God's marvelous care in fitting his creatures for the kind of work they must do.

The Hardiest Palm.

The hardiest palm that will common is California's Washingtonia robusta, known as the Washington palm. Not alone is it hardy in withstanding low temperatures, but it is tough and will endure rough treatment.

BAN ATTRACTIONS IN COAL MINING DISTRICTS

Fuel Administrator D. W. Kunn, of the Pittsburgh district, was notified on Wednesday by the National Fuel Administration that all unnecesary attractions in the coal mining fields that would attract the mine workers from their duties are being eliminated. The notice stated that at Spangler, Cambria County, Pa., a firemen's convention, scheduled for the week beginning August 11, has been canceled. There was to have been a street carnival and other gayety during the convention. The government cannot afford to lose a ton of coal, and, therefore, anything like the Spangler convention should be discouraged in coal mining districts during the war.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Steinbaugh and daughter Fehr and son Byron left Saturday for Mountain Lake Park,Md. where they will spend their vacation.

NAPOLEON ONCE SAID

"A Footsore Army Is An Army Half Defeated." Men in Training Camps, in Cantonments, in the Army and Navy suffer from blisters and sore spots on their feet. Every "Comfort Kit" should contain one or more boxes of Allen's Foot-Ease, the anti-septic powder to shake into the shoes. It freshens the tired, aching, smarting feet and heals blisters and sore spots. The Pershing Camp Manual advises men in training to use daily use of Foot-Ease. Sold everywhere, 25c.

THE COMMERCIAL CLUB

Has our community a Commercial Club? How often does it meet? Once a year or every day? What is our club doing to increase its membership? Has it buried the last of the knockers? How many factories has it secured in the last ten years? The most progressive towns have a Commercial Club meeting every day in the year. New members are added every day. The membership takes in farmers, as well as business men. There is something doing all the time. The greatest energy is expended on boosting the home market. Everybody works at this, and the result is the Commercial Club puts the town on the map as a live community. This is all true of the best towns. Is our town in this class? Are we content to be anything less than the best? Let's get into thatclass. and work each day to stay there.
